Dear Authors,

We regret to inform you that, after further consideration of the submitted ICyberPhyS-2026 proceedings, the CEUR-WS editorial team has decided not to proceed with the publication of the workshop proceedings.

We would like to emphasize that this decision does not concern the scientific quality, relevance, or originality of your individual contribution. We greatly appreciate your participation in ICyberPhyS-2026, your research contribution, and the time and effort you invested in preparing and presenting your work.
As the proceedings cannot be published through CEUR-WS, authors are completely free to submit their papers to other journals, conferences, workshops, or other appropriate publication venues of their choice. We encourage you to consider alternative publication opportunities so that your research can be disseminated and made available to the scientific community.

With our sincere apologies and best regards,
ICyberPhyS-2026 Organizing Committee
